YOUTH INVENTIONS & DESIGN PROGRAM

INTELLECTUAL PROPERTY LICENSE & MEDIA RELEASE FORM

Event Date: November 21, 2026 Participants: High School Students (Grades 9–12) Organizers: LG Electronics USA, Inc.

Challenge Topic: "Next-Generation Features & Practical Innovations for the LG Styler"

1. OWNERSHIP OF YOUR SUBMISSION

You (the "Participant") keep ownership of all intellectual property in the ideas, designs, slides, code, and prototypes you present at the LG STEM Innovation Challenge (the "Competition") on November 21, 2026 (collectively, the "Submission"). Neither LG Electronics USA, Inc. ("LG") nor KSEA NY (together, the "Organizers") acquires ownership of the Submission.

2. LICENSE TO THE ORGANIZERS

You grant the Organizers a non-exclusive, royalty-free, worldwide, perpetual license to display, reproduce, and distribute your Submission's title, poster, summary, and images for judging, exhibition, education, and promotion of the Competition. This license does not permit the Organizers to make or sell products based on your Submission.

3. NO COMPENSATION OR COMMERCIALIZATION OBLIGATION

Participation creates no right to payment, royalties, or future benefits other than the awards announced for the Competition. Any commercial use of a Submission requires a separate written agreement made directly between LG and the Participant (and a parent/guardian if the Participant is under 18); KSEA NY is not a party to any such agreement. The Organizers may independently develop or receive ideas similar to your Submission.

4. PUBLIC EVENT & PATENT NOTICE

The Competition is a public event. Do not include confidential information in your Submission. Public presentation can limit your ability to obtain a patent, especially outside the United States; if this matters to you, consult a patent attorney before November 21, 2026.

5. PARTICIPANT WARRANTY

The Submission is your own work. Any third-party material (images, data, open-source code) is credited and used with permission or under its license terms.

6. MEDIA RELEASE

The Organizers may photograph, record, and interview you at the event and use your name, school, image, and voice for educational and promotional purposes related to the Competition, without compensation.

☐ I do NOT consent to the Media Release in Section 6.
